CALL FOR PAPERS

The purpose of the colloquium is to bring together scientific researchers on retail issues in Europe so as to share results and insights both managerial and scientific.

To be held on Thursday 8th and 9th September 2022 at University of Zagreb, Croatia.

This year's special theme:

The New Age Of Retailing: Rethink, Reconnect, Revive

Since the turn of the century retail is facing ever-growing challenges – the ongoing technology development, the increase in consumers' price sensitivity reinforced by the 2008 recession, the ongoing evolution in consumer behaviour potentiated by the pandemic. What have recent events taught us about retail? Retail is transforming into a new digital industry. Online retailing has gained enviable momentum, and brick-and-mortar stores have taken on a new role while still the dominant first point of contact between retailers and consumers. Customers seek convenience, experience as well as reciprocity in the form of loyalty reimbursement, quick response, sustainability, social responsibility...

This new reality calls for the rebirth of retailing. It is time to rethink established strategies and retail operations, to reconnect with consumers, employees, society and other stakeholders in order to revive the existing business model and market position.

THEMES

We particularly (but not exclusively) welcome submissions on topics related to physical/digital stores, agglomerations and platforms in the contexts of B2B, B2C as well as C2C. Within this remit we look for contributions in the following research areas across retail sectors:
